Pujya Tapaswi Shri Jagjeewan Jee Maharaj

Great saint Jagjeewan Jee Maharaj belonged to Dalkhan, Gujrat. He dedicated his life for the benevolence of mankind. Selfless service had been his motto. In the year 1968, he found his physical body no more useful for society. So, he gave up not only food but also water. In Jain system of austerity, it is called Santhara. He observed it for 45 days seated in the foot of Udaygiri hill of Rajgir. One can visit the holy place where he attained liberation. His disciples from far distant corners of the country come here every year to offer their devotion unto him on the auspicious occasions of his birth and death anniversaries. As his had been an intense desire to see the people educated, several schools and colleges were opened in the memory of such a great saint of India. One of them is P T J M Saraswati Vidya Mandir, Hasanpur, Rajgir.

4. No parent is permitted to provide any eatables to his / her child. If it is very essential, he / she will have to supply the same to all the boarders and that too through the Hostel Superintendent.
5. There is no provision for the parents to stay in the hostel.
6. No boarder should visit in any other hostel block/dormitory without specific permission of the hostel superintendent nor should he keep/call any unauthorised person in his dormitory.

11. Parents must never force their child to live in the hostel if he himself is not willing to do so. This hampers his emotional development and eventually his intelligence.
12. It takes some time to the newly admitted boarder to adapt himself to the new environment. In the beginning he may make many an excuse for leaving the hostel for home. In such a situation, parents should personally meet the Hostel Superintendent / Principal and know the reality and not form unwanted opinions or develop any kind of prejudice.
13. Parent's frequent visits unconsciously / subconsciously develop homesickness in the boarding child. This ultimately impedes his academic development, in particular.
14. Hostel life inculcates in the child the virtues that are essential for making him self confident, regular, diligent and industrious. We all would let him live a life in which would get of labour has got its own importance.

..... To my Senior Secondary Pupils

Dear Students

Affectionate Blessings !

After Matriculation what ? This is a profound question before you and I'm sure you must have had an appropriate answer to the question. Your decision to continue your studies is no way wrong.

At this intermediate stage of education you have to enrich your knowledge in a specialized way. You are on the verge of the ocean of knowledge and you have to navigate a long distance in the coming two years.

With the passage of time to come you yourself will discover that the trend of studies is totally different from that of the previous secondary classes.

We shall guide you, we'll help you whenever you'll be in trouble - rather we won't let you go into any trouble; but this much is not going to suffice. You'll have to labor hard tirelessly till you attain the first goal of completing the studies as per syllabi.

It has been a bitter experience that some students focus on objective preparation right from the very beginning and most of them fail to secure very good marks in the final examinations.

Since we have already planned your studies, you need not worry - just tune yourself with our plan and you'll notice a splendid change in yourself and you will build up a very good confidence too.

The same 24 hours will be with you too but the curriculum shall be vast and you will need to go through each and every detail, So you must observe a routine life because entire success solely depends upon your time management.

Always remember that when you fail to plan, you plan to fail.

Besides all these, you will have to live a life of much more responsibility.

You just mind the duty on your own part and God will shower His blessings from all sides!

May you enjoy a sound health, study deliberately and bear a good moral standard that all these make you an exemplary personality - that you be the lamp of your family and the Sun of the world!

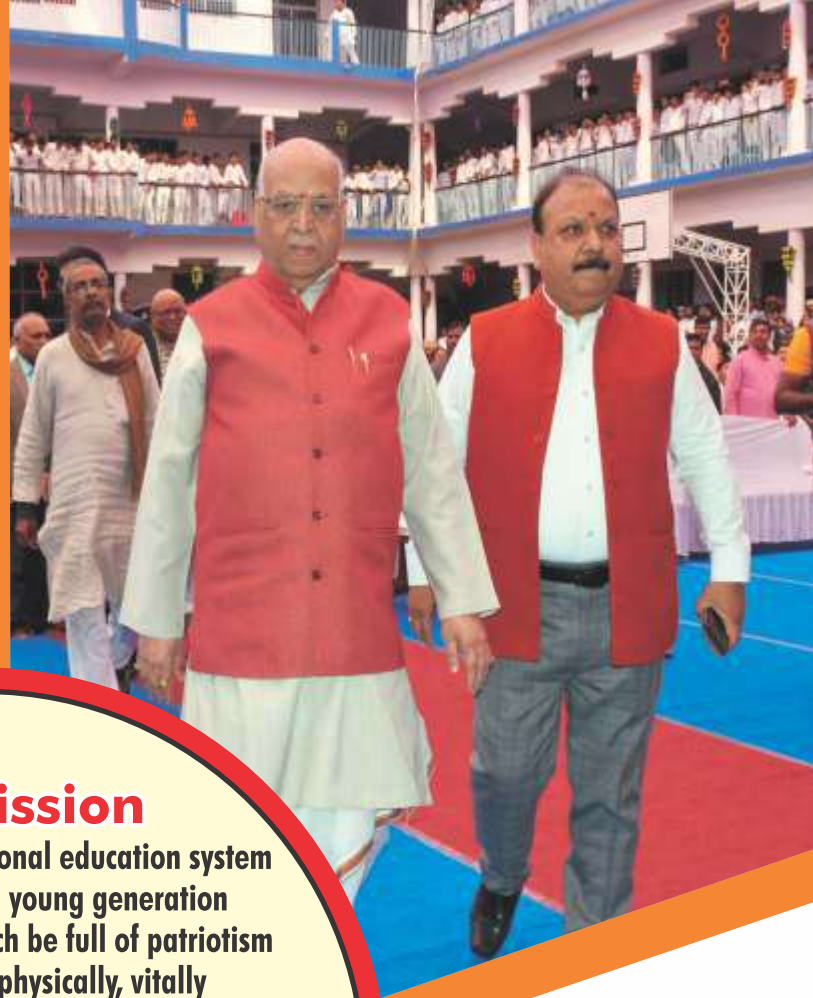

Once again wishing you the best of luck !

Yours ever

Principal
